

Government intervention in housing vital

By Noor Mohammad Feb 19 2017 , New Delhi

Tags: News

India's fast-paced urbanisation would throw up challenges and as well as growth opportunities in the coming years. To harness the growth potential of the structural change, the government will have to come out with innovative policies.

Analy
unles centr

For e
Delh
of Mi
to gl

In th
nee

residential properties beyond the reach of middle class.

“There has been a considerable push from the government towards affordable housing, as it will hold key to the mission of Housing for All by 2022, which can be achieved only with the help of private players and hence we have witnessed great support from local authorities towards affordable housing projects,” said Pradeep Aggarwal, co-founder & chairman, Signature Global.

“There has been a considerable push from the government towards affordable housing, as it will hold key to the mission of Housing for All by 2022, which can be achieved only with the help of private players and hence we have witnessed great support from local authorities towards affordable housing projects,” said Pradeep Aggarwal, co-founder & chairman, Signature Global.